

David Morrison's Bio:

David began his commitment to Royal Rangers in 1994 as a commander at his local church. Readily embracing the mentorship role, David raised all four of his sons in Royal Rangers, and has held multiple leadership positions at the state, regional, and national levels along the way. He enjoys leading young men and commanders alike, especially those who desire to make a difference in society's rapidly changing definition of biblical manhood. David remains passionate about gender specific ministry, what the ministry advocates, and how it is such a vital part to the post-modern church. David is a registered architect and has a BS in Architecture from the University of Michigan and Master of Science in Management in Organizational Management from Mount Vernon Nazarene. He and his wife, Chris, have six children, 4 sons and 2 daughters.
